DualSun hybrid solar technology recognized by the Solar Impulse Foundation

DualSun received the Solar Impulse Efficient Solution label from the Solar Impulse Foundation for its solar hybrid technology. Launched by the Solar Impulse Foundation, the World Alliance for Efficient Solutions wants to use its notoriety to promote and federate 1,000 efficient solutions to contribute to the ecological transition.

The DualSun solution has been recognized as credible, scalable, good for the environment and profitable by a committee of independent experts with at least 5 years of experience in one of its application sectors.

The aim of the World Alliance for Efficient Solutions is to raise awareness among institutional and political decision-makers to encourage them to adopt more ambitious energy policies and environmental objectives.

After the success of Bertrand Piccard's first flight in a solar airplane, the Solar Impulse Foundation is entering the second phase of its action. The Alliance will bring together start-ups, companies, institutions and organizations in the field of clean technologies and sustainable development to promote and stimulate the global implementation of efficient solutions for the environment.

For Jérôme Mouterde, co-founder of Dualsun : "This label is a further step in the recognition of the "Made in France" hybrid technology that we have created. We are convinced that solar energy is an energy of the future: since it has enabled Solar Impulse to complete a complete round-the-world tour and thanks to the DualSun solar panels it will make buildings more energy self-sufficient."

For Bertrand Piccard, initiator and President of the Solar Impulse Foundation : «Today, thousands of solutions exist that can boost economic growth while preserving nature, but they are often hidden in startups or research labs. So few people realize that everyone can use them and how profitable they have become.»

Dualsun will inaugurate the production line of Spring panels in its factory in Jujurieux (France - 01) on Thursday, April 2, 2020.

This morning will be sponsored by Mr. Yves Jégo, former minister and creator of the "Origine France Garantie" brand. This event will be an opportunity to unveil the investments made, financed in part by an Investment Program for the Future (PIA) set up by the French State and operated by ADEME and Bpifrance.
